Hailing from Greensboro, NC, Danai Kadzere has always been obsessed with the stories of human behavior- a prolific writer of fiction, remarkably, since the age of 4.

Danai is a 'third culture kid' (German, Zimbabwean, South African and American), bilingual (German, English), and notably, a Harvard graduate with a BA in Human Evolutionary Biology. After working in tech for a decade, her Harvard studies and love of story-telling drew her to further explore character work, and turn her focus to acting. And so, her deep intellect marries with her deeper passion in acting. Her training includes UCB, Thomas Derrah at American Repertory theater, and currently, Anthony Abeson in NYC.

Early credits, which allude to her potential as she reintroduces herself, hat once again in the ring, include THE GET DOWN (Netflix), THE DEUCE (HBO) and BILLIONS (Showtime). Not to mention, successful ventures in commercials, voice over and print.

Though with light in her spirit, she dons both masks of acting, comedy and drama, with equal adeptness. For though we inhabit many worlds, Danai is always able to intertwine the red thread of truth in a character with her own.
